

California State University Channel Islands Students To Raise Funds to Assist Hurricane Katrina Victims

NEWS RELEASE FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Fall 2005

The CSUCI Associated Students of Cal State University Channel Islands are planning several fund-raisers to assist the victims of Hurricane Katrina.

The month-long fund-raising effort will provide several opportunities for University students, faculty, staff, and surrounding community to join together in providing relief to the disaster victims.

Events include:

- “Dollar-A-Day for 20 Days” – A campaign in which the campus community can make donations at various campus venues and wear badges indicating their support as well as their daily contributions to date. Members of the community may also contribute at the various sites, including the University’s bookstore.
- Walkathon on campus – On September 24, members of the campus and surrounding communities will raise funds through individual and team participation.
- Community carnival will take place on CSUCI’s campus on October 8 with booths sponsored by various student clubs and organizations.

To make contributions to participate in student relief activities, you may download the Hurricane Katrina Relief contribution form \(PDF, 37KB\)

All funds raised will be channeled through the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund.

For more information or to volunteer at these events, visit the University Web site at www.csuci.edu or call the Student Government Office at 805-437-2734.
